organs. The stomach is debilitated, the liver torpid, the bowels constipated.
There is a loathing of food, pains in the bowels, dizziness, coated tongue and vomiting, first of the undigested or partially digested food and then of bile. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets

QUAY TO RETIRE.

Announced He Would Quit Politics.

PRESENT OFFICE HIS LAST ONE.

Intends, However, to Maintain His Interest in Legislative Work of the Present Session of Pennsylvania Legislature—Banquet and Reception

Philadelphia, May 15.—Republicans of the dominant faction of that party from different sections of the Keystone state were present at an affair here to celebrate the re-election of United States Senator Matthew S.
Quay to the upper chamber of congress. Among those present were Governor Stone, also all the members of his cabinet, members of the legislature, the municipal heads of several Pennsylvania cities and all the prominent Quay Republicans of this city.
The occasion took the form of a banquet, followed by a reception, and was under the auspices of the Pennsylvania State League of Republican clubs.

Senator Quay, accompanied by J.
Hampton Moore, president of the league, and Joseph N. Huston, who acted as the senator's escort, arrived here from Washington. The party was met at the station by a reception committee of about 300 club men, who escorted Colonel Quay to the Hotel Walton. A large crowd was on Broad street, from the station to the hotel.

Conferred With Stone and Durham.

Senator Quay excused himself to callers at the hotel, with the exception of Governor Stone and Insurance Commissioner G. W. Durham, of this city, with whom Mr. Quay was closeted for some time. About 6 o'clock the senator was escorted to Horticultural hall, where an elaborate banquet was served, covers being laid for about 500 persons. The banquet hall was beautifully decorated. There was no speech making at the dinner, this feature of the occasion being reserved for the reception at the Academy of Music, which adjoins Horticultural hall.

There was a big crowd in the big auditorium when the diners, headed by Senator Quay, marched into the Academy, and the doors were closed to most late comers, except those who participated in the banquet and who occupied seats on the stage. Senator Quay's reception was a particularly enthusiastic one. Cheer after cheer was given and as he took his seat at the front of the stage.

President Moore presided. He made a short address before introducing the guest of the evening.
There was another outburst of enthusiasm as Senator Quay arose to speak.

Senator Quay said in part:
"Fully recognizing that your tribute is not personal, but attaches to the high office which the Republicans of Pennsylvania have honored me, I thank you.

"My political race is run. It is not to be understood that God's sword is drawn immediately against my life nor that my seat in the senate is to be prematurely vacated, but that with the subscription of my official oath on the 18th of January my connection with the serious labors and responsibilities of active politics ceased, except in so far as I may be committed to certain measures pending in the present legislature.

Won't Be Candidate Again.

"I will never again be a candidate for nor accept any official position.
I have many friends to remember, I have no enemies to punish. In this regard I put aside the past.
"Gentlemen of the Republican clubs of Pennsylvania, you have reason to be proud of your party and its work in your state.

"Ever since the Republican party came into power its government has been wisely and economically administered—administered, indeed, with an economy which, in view of our population, wealth, territory, multiplied industries, manufactures, mines,
oil production, railroads and canals, seems almost parsimony. Witness the figures of our appropriations for 1899-1900: Total appropriations, $22, 896,218; annual appropriations, $11,
443,109; annual school appropriations $5,500,000; normal schools and other educational institutions, $502,780; charitable institutions, $780,825; indigent, insane, $344,850; judiciary, $669,000; national guard, $387,500; total, $9,085,153. Balance, $2,362,965.

"This balance of a little over two millions of dollars defrays the salaries of all of the officers and employees of all the departments of the state government, including salaries of the legislature and legislative employees, and necessary expenses incident to the session of the legislature;
public printing, geological survey, pensions and gratuities, penitentiaries and reformatories and their incident but necessary expenditures, which, trifling in detail, are important in the aggregate. The budget for this city approximates thirty millions annually and the budget of any one of our great cities exceeds the budget of the state. The taxation per capita upon our population for the support of the state government proper amounts to 33 1/2 cents. Even this is paid not directly by the people, but by our corporations. Every county in the state except this county of Philadelphia receives from the state treasury more than it pays into it.
The consolidated debt of all the counties, municipalities and school districts of Pennsylvania was, in 1880, $25.03 per capita; in 1890, $13.50.

Compared to Some Other States.

"In Massachusetts, in 1880, it was $51.55; in 1890, $36.42. In New York, in 1880, it was $43.06; in 1890, $32.64.
In Maine, in 1880, it was $35.81; in 1890, $23.60. In New Hampshire, in 1880, $31.10; in 1890, $21.64.

into power in Pennsylvania the state debt approximated $40,000,000—now it is less than $1,000,000. Then the annual interest charge was twice the amount of the total debt and annual interest today. Then all lands were taxed for state purposes—now they are exempt. Then houses, cattle, carriages, watches, occupations and professions were taxed for state purposes—now they are exempt—and in the meantime ten and one-half millions of dollars have been spent upon the schools for soldiers' orphans.
These taxes repealed have not been replaced by any tax upon individuals.
In the meantime the annual appropriation for common schools has been increased from $300,000 to $5,000,000.
Since then the large revenues derived from liquor licenses have been diverted almost entirely from the state to the treasuries of the counties and municipalities. Then each county was compelled to maintain its own indigent insane—now the state bears the burden. The repealed taxes have been made up by the revenues derived from moneys at interest, three-fourths of which is returned to the counties and by imposing additional burdens upon corporations. It is proper also to allude to the fact that when the Republican party came into power laws for the protection of labor were almost unknown. Now their catalogue is too long for quotation. I have said we were economical to the verge of parsimony. We should be more liberal with hospitals, insane asylums and educational institutions.

Tariff Almost Not Needed.

"In material development of resources we have advanced so far under the stimulus of the protective system that we are almost able to progress successfully without a tariff.
It remains still to secure a market for our surplus coal to insure steady wages and prevent strikes in our coal regions. In our civil system there remains to provide a new ballot law to satisfy many of our people.

"We are deeply interested in the foreign policy of our nation, and all seem wedded in its conduct. The Philippines will soon have a government by consent of their people, and within a score of years may develop into independence peacefully and under our protection. In China we have but to apply the golden rule, treat China as we would have China treat us, recognize that, despite their savagery, the empress dowager is the greatest woman born in Asia since the birth of Semiramis, and Tuan, the representative of patriotic Chinese thought, and all can be made well there. That nation of four hundred millions of people is present on earth for an Almighty purpose, and while the great European powers may pencil lines of partition for Chinese territory, they will never divide the Chinese people.

"The business conditions of the country are abnormal and would have seemed incredible a very few years ago. They are probably the result to some extent of the isolated and different causes operating throughout the world, as well as our own science, industry, skill and great resources,
and to the results of the Spanish war. The uncertainty of the financial outcome belongs to the future."

Senator Quay was followed by Mayor Ashbridge, who welcomed the distinguished senator to the city.
Governor Stone spoke on behalf of the state.

STRIKERS ON WATCH

Weary Rioters Replaced by Others at Albany.

NON-UNIONISTS MUCH AFRAID.

Some Inside Car House—Others Had Deserted to Strikers—Man Badly Hurt During Rioting—Two Cars Wrecked—Militia Under Arms.

Albany, N. Y., May 15.—About a thousand national guardsmen and a hundred mounted men, it was expected, will occupy Albany streets today and attempt to force a riotous crowd to let the cars of the United Traction company run with non-union men.
The Twenty-third regiment, of Brooklyn; the Tenth battalion, of Albany, and the Third signal corps will make up the complement of men. They will be reinforced by 200 special deputies, 300 policemen and over a hundred Pinkerton detectives. More rioting occurred last night.

It was said late last night that 300 new non-union men were in a train near the city, waiting for the troops to make their entry safe. Eight men have been arrested for rioting, two only of whom were strikers.

At midnight three companies of the Tenth battalion took their stations at three important points.

Albany, N. Y., May 15.—When darkness fell last evening about several thousand weary street car strikers and sympathizers went to their houses, but they were replaced by more, who took up the vigil to prevent the United Traction men from running their electric cars with non-union men. The darkness brought some confidence that there would be no attempt before morning to move cars, for two attempts made in broad daylight had brought bloodshed and riot on such a scale that the local police, aided by scores of deputies and Pinkerton men, had been unable to quell the disturbance.

One Man Seriously Hurt.

One man lay in a hospital seriously wounded, one of the two cars the company attempted to run was in the gutter of a street not two blocks from the car house, wrecked, and the troley wires were cut in several places, practically crippling the road.
Near the car houses were thousands of men and women and children, wrought up to a pitch of frenzy that boded ill if the doors of the car house opened to let out another car. Inside the car house, afraid even to look out of the grated windows, were about 75 non-union men, whom the company expected to use in running the cars. Early Tuesday morning there were about 150 of them, but by nightfall about 65 had deserted and joined the ranks of the strikers.

The men claimed that they were brought here under a misapprehension and that they supposed they were going to Philadelphia.

Tuesday afternoon the police practically admitted that they were powerless to take care of the large crowds on the street if cars were run, and General Manager McNamara immediately called upon General Oliver, in command of the Third brigade, for protection. He said:

"We intend to run out cars if it takes the entire national guard of New York state to protect us." General Oliver issued an order assembling at their armory last night the Tenth battalion of Albany, comprising four companies of the national guard of infantry, and the Third signal corps, mounted. General Oliver said that he would warn the remainder of the Third brigade to be in readiness for a call.

The riot Tuesday was full of exciting features.

Rioting Was Exciting.

About 10 o'clock two of the big car doors swung open and out darted a closed car with all the windows opened. Immediately there was a roar of hisses and shouts. Several men made an effort to board the car, but they were kept from doing so by the policemen, one of whom was stationed on each car step. The car made rapid headway and almost before the expectant crowd realized what had happened it was well on its way over Quail street. It continued to the Union station and returned, followed most of the way by bicyclists and people in vehicles. The second car did not escape. When the doors were opened the mob surged towards it, despite the efforts of the police. The crowd consisted of four men dressed in plain clothes. As the car swung around the curve there was a rush for it, but the crowd was driven back. The committee from the strikers was allowed to approach the men.

"Do you want to come with us, boys. You want regret it."
There was no response from any of the men. The motorman, with his smile gone, waved them aside and the car was off again.

All restraint in the great crowd broke. Through the middle of the street men ran, with women and children, mingling with the officers of the law, whose clubs were swinging and arms moving in vain almost to keep people from danger. Men stopped to pick up stones and were overturned, to be pushed and kicked by the others.

Before the car had started two policemen boarded it. They simply made two extra targets for the stones and bricks. The car had not gone 50 feet before one's helmet was crushed and the other policeman was in danger of having more than his helmet damaged.

Fusillade of Stones.

There was a perfect fusillade of stones. They came from all directions and crashed through windows, front, rear and sides of the car.
The men aboard dodged and jumped from side to side to escape them and were successful with the exception of the motorman. A great jagged edged rock struck him full in the forehead and he dropped to the floor of the platform. It was a deep, ugly gash the rock left and the blood flowed from it in a stream. The unfortunate man dropped into a pool of his own blood that covered the entire platform. The assistant, as soon as the man dropped, grasped the brakes and controlling handle and faced the mob. A few feet more and the car was upon an insurmountable barriade. With a sudden jerk it came to a stop and all aboard it were thrown forward, one of the conductors falling among a pile of broken glass, to receive some ugly flesh wounds

and cuts.

The conductors and one motorman joined the strikers and the wounded man went to the hospital. He said his name was Marshall and he lived at Greenpoint, L. I.
Five arrests were made, and thus ended the first day's attempt to run cars.

AMERICAN BANDITS.

Some Captured; Others Pursued.
Committed Awful Crimes
In Luzon.

Manila, May 15.—Detectives and the police broke up a band of American brigands, who have been operating in the province of Pampanga, north of and not far from Manila.
George Raymond, Ulrich Rogers and Oscar Mushmiller were captured, and Andrew Martin, Peter Heise, George Muhn and two others were being pursued. This band committed outrages, murder and rape at Bacolor, Pam-panga province, and in that vicinity, and Sunday last they killed Henry Dow, an American.

The band sometimes represented themselves as American deserters and at others as American soldiers.
George Raymond wore the uniform of a captain. Raymond and Martin were formerly policemen in Manila.

MARKET WAS WEAK.

Some Violent Declines Tuesday, Due to Comparatively Light Volume of Liquidation.

New York, May 15.—The inherent weakness of the stock market after last week's severe shock to confidence became obvious Tuesday and some violent declines were caused by a comparatively light volume of liquidation. The weakness was partly due to the fact that the natural rebound after the panic had expended itself.
The factors which caused that rebound were elements of weakness at the higher level of prices. For instance, the professional operators who were so fortunate as to secure stocks that were sacrificed at the low level on Thursday were very willing to sell and take profits when they perceived that the rebound had about reached its limits. There was another class, that of the insiders and friends of various stocks, who bought heavily on Thursday to support their favorites in order to protect their values as far as possible. This class was anxious to lighten its holdings when the panic was checked and took advantage of the high level of prices.
There was a large amount of belated liquidation also in Tuesday's market on the part of capitalists and operators who were strong enough to hold through the panic and save their property from absolute sacrifice, but who were nevertheless bent on liquidation. The Saturday holiday was taken advantage of all through the Wall street district to bring up accounts to date, and the weak condition disclosed in many cases prompted the closing out of these accounts.
This factor would have had more influence Monday had it not been for the encouraging effect of the favorable outcome of the London settlement. The bears also resumed their aggressive mood Tuesday, and not only offered prices down to take the market away from those seeking to liquidate, but were industriously circulating alarmist rumors of the further consequences to ensue from the conflict in Northern Pacific. It was observed with apprehension, as indicating a possible spread of hostile tactics to a general stock market warfare, that brokers usually supposed to be employed by Standard Oil interests were sellers of so-called Morgan stocks, while the supposed Morgan brokers were in evidence when the stocks in the southwestern group began to give way. This might easily have been a bear manoeuvre, but it was effective in driving prices

KILLED IN YARDS.

Brakeman McCann Meets Death Saturday Night.

HAD BEEN OUT ALL DAY.

Returned in the Evening on a Passenger Train From Wheeling with the Other Members of the East End Local Crew, and was on His Way to His Boarding House When the Fatal Accident Occurred

The facts of the killing of Charles J. McCann, on the Wheeling & Lake Erie railway, Saturday night, will probably never be known. McCann was a Wheeling & Lake Erie brakeman, and had been in Massillon since April 1. He was a member of the crew of the East End local, and worked under Conductor William Stark. McCann, with the others of the crew, had taken their train to Wheeling, and had come back to Massillon Saturday evening on the passenger train due here at 7:20 o'clock. All the members of the crew rode to the station. McCann left the train here, also, but when the cars were being pushed back to Columbia for the night, he leaped upon one of them.

Arrived at Columbia, Jay Mistlethune, the baggage-master of the train, saw him leave the cars and conversed with him for a minute. That was the last time McCann was seen alive. Between 9 and 10 o'clock his dead body, badly mangled, was found lying between the rails, about seventy-five yards north of the Columbia offices. Conductor Frank Barber, who resides in Park street, came upon the body while walking about the yards. He immediately notified the office men, who sent word to the police. The body was removed to Higdon's morgue, and the coroner was sent for. The latter arrived Sunday, viewed the remains and said he would return later in the week to take the evidence.

It is the supposition that McCann was killed by the second section of No. 61, south bound, which passed through the city shortly before 8 o'clock. McCann probably attempted to board the train, and was hurled under the wheels. Railway men say the place in which the body was lying indicates that he was not struck by a train, as has been suggested. His reason for desiring to board the train is inconjecturable, as he was undoubtedly on his way to the Tracy boarding house, where he stayed when in the city, and which was almost directly opposite, on Columbia Heights from the place where he met his death.

McCann was 34 years old and unmarried. His mother resides in Hornersville, N. Y., to which place the body has been sent by the railway company, a committee from the Massillon branch of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, of which organization he was a member, being in charge. McCann was little known in the city. He had been employed by the Wheeling company less than two weeks.

Terrific Explosion Destroys Mine Building.

HOT IRON IN DYNAMITE.

Blacksmith Meisner and His Assistant Narrowly Escape with Their Lives—A Small Chip From a Heated Rod Falls Among the Explosive and Burns for Some Time Before Noticed by the Workmen.

The blacksmith shop at the Ridgway Burton Company's mine, on the Conrad farm north of the city, was destroyed by an explosion of dynamite at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning. Blacksmith Peter Meisner and his helper, Patrick Larkin, narrowly escaped. A piece of red hot iron, unnoticed by the smiths, fell into a box containing a large quantity of dynamite. By the merest chance Meisner happened to glance toward the box.

He saw the spark and, calling to Larkin, ran from the building. Scarcely had they gotten to a place of safety before a terrific explosion occurred, and the blacksmith shop lay in kindling wood. None of the other buildings about the mine were near enough to be damaged by the shock, and no one was injured. The blacksmith shop contained clothing and other belongings of the miners and workmen, including their dinner pails. The shop will be rebuilt at once, and orders have been issued for the more careful handling of explosives.

The News-Democrat, Saturday, in its report of the Grand Army band minstrel show, said that J. F. Shepley, of this city, who sang "Ram-a-Jam," made the hit of the evening. "Mr. Shepley," it stated, "is fully qualified to step out of the amateur class, and take to the board for keeps."

THE FLOOR PROBLEM.

The Ideal Treatment of Floors of Care For Both Hard and Soft Woods.

Many a worn carpet will come up this spring of which the housewife will say, "It cannot go down a run." Then arises the question "to carpet again or to have a polished floor?" Since the advent of the germ theory many people besides the scientists look askance at carpets. The following information from The Ladies' World will be useful to such as are considering the abolition of these dust harboring affairs:

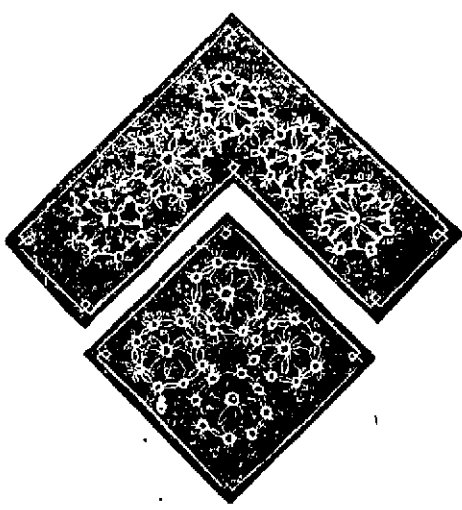

The ideal floor is of hard wood, over which is laid a large square, leaving a bare surface of wood about one foot between baseboard and rug, or the floor may have a covering of several smaller rugs. The possession of a hard wood floor presupposes the necessary wealth to hire a competent man to apply the proper finish, but in the case of the round of good, bad and indifferent maids fine rugs and floors are not always properly taken care of. The large squares should be swept with the carpet sweeper as often as necessary, and at least once a month removed from the house and well beaten, while the smaller rugs may be shaken out of doors on every cleaning day. Never wipe a wax floor with a damp cloth, as the least suspicion of moisture will mar it. Instead use a dry cotton flannel wrapped tightly around the broom to gather up the dust, while once or twice a year the floor should be treated with a coat of floor wax, proceeding according to the directions on the can. Canton flannel bags made to fit the broom and tied at the handle are convenient, and the lower end finished with two small ruffles will make them wear a longer time.

The treatment of pine floors will depend upon their age and condition, while their care will depend upon the finish which has been applied. New, well matched boards will take a wax finish very nicely, and an amateur may achieve good results if the following recipe is used:

Rub the well planed floor with sandpaper and apply a coat of transparent filler. When this has stood 24 hours—no less time for the best results—apply floor wax with a soft cloth, covering the surface well. This first wax application must also stand for a full day, after which a second application of wax is necessary. Let the second coat stand an hour, after which the polishing process will consist of three goings over with the weighted brush—first, across the grain; second, with the grain, and, finally, with a thick wool pad beneath the brush. This floor may be kept free from dust in the same manner as one of hard wood.

there are 4 p after the joining, close. Join to center ring in next plect as before. Continue until all the picots of center ring have been used; tie and cut the thread. Join the medallions as they are made at the proper places, as shown in the cut.

Corner For Handkerchief.—This is worked with two threads. Make ring of shuttle thread consisting of 8 p with 2 d s between. Make 3 d s from shuttle thread, join to first of 8 p, 3 d s, close, turn. Make 2 d s, p, 2 d s, p, 2 d s, p, 2 d s, from shuttle thread, close. Make 4 d s from spool thread, 3 d s from shuttle thread, join to second p, 3 d s, close, proceed as before until the 8 p have been filled. Make 4 d s from spool thread, tie firmly and break threads. Join as illustrated. In beginning a wheel unwind a little more than a foot of thread from the shuttle and work the center ring at that distance from the end. Using that part for the spool thread does away with knots and makes the lace much neater.

Notes From The Jeweler's Circular.
An Indian arrowhead chipped out of turquoise matrix and mounted with gold is a most taking bit of originality in the way of a pendant.

The spring's new soft silk belts are very wide, and buckles are large and bold in design, exploiting in greater part Egyptian and floral styles in shaded silver and gold.

A pretty set of sleeve links and shirt waist studs is of white enamel, with a golden flower-de-luce on each article.

A most striking new belt is a flexible band woven of bright silver wire, with a large gray silver buckle.

Women are taking amazingly to the watch fob in its most masculine aspect. The jeweled feather is an artistic and favorite motif in ornaments.

A FATAL MISTAKE.

Child Eats Quinine for Candy.

SON OF E. CRITCHFIELD.

While Playing About His Parents' Home, Prattling About the Good Things That Were to Come, Suddenly Became Ill, and in Less Than an Hour Was Dead.

Elmer E. Critchfield, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Critchfield, played about his mother's skirts, between 5 and 6 o'clock Saturday evening, prattling about the good things he had been promised for supper. Suddenly he ceased his prattle and his little body seemed to become perfectly rigid. Forty-five minutes later he was dead. The efforts of Drs. Pumphrey and Garrigues, who were immediately summoned, were unavailing.

It is supposed that the child had eaten some quinine and digestive tablets which his mother, who had recently been suffering with ague, had allowed to remain on a stand in one of the rooms. Funeral services for the child were conducted at the residence Monday afternoon. The pallbearers were William Maltz, Charles Daniels, Herbert Prime and Thomas Davis, all small boys of the vicinity of Warwick street.

LIGHTNING WRECKS CHIMNEY

Severe Effects of Saturday's Storm at Crystal Spring.

CRYSTAL SPRING, May 13.—Lightning struck the house owned by A. W. Leonard and occupied by John Meiner, on Saturday afternoon, wrecking the chimney. It plowed a gutter three feet wide through the roof from the chimney to the spouting. Mr. Meiner, who happened to be asleep in an upstairs room, sustained a severe shock but escaped unhurt. The lightning also lit the home of H. B. Smith, and did precisely the same damage in the same manner.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

VIEWING THE SOLAR ECLIPSE

On May 17, at 10:45 a. m., the moon will get in the way of the sun's beams, and for about three hours thereafter the source of light and heat will be obscured. Unfortunately for inquisitive Americans, the time given for the eclipse is that of Padang, on the island of Sumatra, which is on the other side of the world. While our antipodes, therefore, will be enjoying a total eclipse of the sun our hemisphere will be wrapped in natural midnight.

This most important astronomical event of the year, the first solar eclipse of the century, will be visible in eastern Africa, southern India, Siam, southern China, the East Indian archipelago, the Philippines, Australia and elsewhere in those parts. The narrow path of totality will begin at a point in the Indian ocean east of Africa and, barely including part of Madagascar, will extend thence across the Indian ocean, through the center of Sumatra, the southern part of Borneo and the southern portion of New Guinea. It will begin near longitude 40 degrees east and end just short of longitude 150 degrees west.

While the shadow of the moon sweeps eastward at the rate of about 1,000 miles an hour the earth will also be moving eastward at about 1,040 miles an hour. The best position from which to view the eclipse, therefore, will be on or near the equator, where the speed of the passing shadow will be least and the totality longest.

The leading astronomers of the earth, among them those of the United States, have chosen Sumatra as the best place to view the eclipse and to make scientific observations thereof, and it is to that island, therefore, that the American expeditions have gone. At Padang, Sumatra, the sun will be in total eclipse for more than six minutes, an unusually long time and one affording much and favorable opportunity for investigation. The next total eclipse of six minutes will not occur until May 29, 1919.

America has sent four expeditions to view the total eclipse and to gather from it scientific knowledge concerning the sun and other heavenly bodies. They are the government expedition, the University of California party, that from Amherst college and the one

Many of America's Astronomers Now On the Other Side Of the Globe . . .

from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The government party is under the direction of Professor A. N. Skinner of the United States naval observatory and includes Professor E. E. Barnard of the Yerkes observatory, Dr. S. A. Mitchell of Columbia university, Dr. Humphreys of the University of Virginia, Dr. Gilbert of Johns Hopkins and Messrs. L. E. Jewell and W. W. Dinwiddie of the naval observatory. The party will be joined at Padang, Sumatra, by scientists sent out by the Dutch government. Sumatra is a Dutch dependency.

Although the Massachusetts Technology and California parties are headed by scientists of national reputation and are expected to achieve great results, the greatest interest probably attaches to the Amherst party. The head of this is Professor David Peck Todd, who has been at the head of several such expeditions. Observing eclipses is no novelty to Professor Todd, for the first work he did in that line was in 1875, when he was only 20 years of age. In that year he was appointed assistant to the United States transit of Venus commission, and since then his time has been largely taken up with eclipses, transits and similar phenomena. Professor Todd holds the chair of astronomy and is the director of the observatory at Amherst.

Accompanying Professor Todd on his trip to Sumatra this year are Mrs. Todd and their daughter Millicent. The latter is a studious young woman and a junior at Vassar. Mrs. Todd has gained fame as a writer and lecturer and accompanied her husband to Japan in 1893 on a trip similar to the present one. On her return she wrote an interesting account of the expedition and of the eclipse.

The observation of the coming eclipse, if it is successful at all, will be made under unusual conditions. Sumatra's climate is scarcely dependable at this season of the year, and a rain may spoil the labor of months. Should the weather conditions be favorable, however, the unusually long duration of totality of the eclipse will undoubtedly enable most important astronomical observations to be made.

Last year's eclipse resulted in the photographing of four known fixed stars near the sun. It is hoped that this time, with larger plates and longer exposures, it will be possible to obtain the images of more stars. The discovery of an intramercutrial planet, if one exists, is earnestly hoped for. If a planet of even the seventh magnitude exists in the region between Mercury and the sun, it should certainly be shown on the plates to be exposed during the coming eclipse. A planet of even the eighth magnitude would leave its mark on the plate. It will readily be understood with what eagerness astronomers are awaiting the result of the expedition and how earnestly they desire favorable weather conditions.

During last year's eclipse Professor Barnard of the Yerkes observatory, who is now with the government party, succeeded in taking some excellent photographs of the corona or rim of brilliancy surrounding the sun visible during the totality of a solar eclipse. He has taken with him to Sumatra the same instrument used then and is sanguine of still better results.

Only during the few precious minutes of totality when the sun is completely hidden from view by the moon is it possible to see and study the glory and beauty of the corona. These periods occur at such rare intervals and last for so short a time, never exceeding eight minutes, that it has been said that the entire time during which the corona is visible during a century could be combined into a week. Professor Barnard's 40 inch plate will be the largest ever employed for the purpose of photographing the corona. He hopes to obtain an exposure of two minutes and a half.

A COMFORTABLE HOME.

Convenience Especially Considered In This Dwelling, to Cost $2,500.

Comfort and convenience should be the first important considerations in designing a dwelling of moderate cost. Too often large sums of money are wasted in useless ornamentation or in some special "odd feature" which is supposed to add so much to the appearance of the building that an actual sacrifice of comfort must be made in order to keep the cost within the prescribed limit. The good housewife will in time forgive the architect who plans well, even though he may exceed the limit of expenditure, but inconveniently arranged rooms and awkwardly located fixtures are a constant reminder of his incompetency or carelessness.

Inexperienced persons usually expect too much and cannot understand why a few feet added here and there in the dimensions of the rooms should make much difference in the cost of the structure. Yet it is the actual area of ground covered by the building upon which the cost is estimated.

Here is a modest yet pleasing design for a dwelling suitable for a family in moderate circumstances. The principal rooms are grouped about one central chimney so that each is provided with a fire. A cellar extends under the entire house and has a concrete floor, outside cellar steps and hatchway and the usual plank stairs leading to the kitchen.

In the first story a small porch shelters the front entrance, from which you enter the staircase hall through a small vestibule. At the left of the hall is a good sized parlor, with a dining room and kitchen at the rear of the house. The hall, parlor and dining room are separated by large doorways, which are to be hung with pretty portieres, thus omitting the doors which would otherwise be necessary. The curtains and poles cost much less than doors and give a richer effect. The entrance from the staircase hall to the kitchen is placed under the main stairs, out of sight as you enter, and is shut off from the kitchen by two doors, which prevent the odors of the kitchen from permeating the front part of the house, an advantage which no one can fail to appreciate.

The kitchen is provided with a good sized closet for stoves and culinary utensils, with a pantry placed in a convenient location and communicating with the dining room in the usual way. The pantry doors are hinged so as to be self closing, thus shutting off all smells from the kitchen.

Some persons may object to this arrangement of rooms because there is no direct communication between the hall and dining room and that there are no back stairs. These objections could easily be overcome in the planning of the house, but would involve considerable extra expense, for an additional chimney would be required and extra space for the stair way and passage to the dining room. Since it is a question of cost, we find that this arrangement here shown is one of the best for the amount of money to be expended.

In the second story we have two large chambers, one small bedroom, bathroom and hall and four closets, which are indispensable to comfort and convenience. These rooms all have direct communication with the hall, which is another good feature of the plan. The bathroom is placed directly over the kitchen, so that the supply and waste pipes have the shortest and most direct run to the fixtures.

A small storage room can be secured in the attic, which may be reached by a ladder from the second story hall if desired. The foundations of the house are of stone and frame above. The staircase is finished in light oak; all other woodwork of white pine painted in two coats. The building can be erected for $2,500 without a furnace. If a furnace is required, it will cost $130 additional.

BLAINE, JR., TO WED.

SON OF PLUMED KNIGHT TO MARRY AN ADMIRAL'S DAUGHTER.

Young Man of Strenuous Career Has Captured One of Washington's Belles—Miss Hiehorn Is Willing to Overlook His Rather Lurid Past.

Formal announcement has been made that on June 4 Miss Martha Hiehorn will become the bride of James G. Blaine, Jr. Miss Hiehorn is the daughter of Rear Admiral Philip Hiehorn, retired. Young Blaine's father was the famous "Plumed Knight" of Maine. For many months the engagement has been hinted at, guessed at and rumored, and at last it turns out to be a fact.

MISS MARTHA HIEHORN.

For some years Martha Hiehorn has borne the reputation of being one of the fairest of Washington's daughters, if indeed she did not lead them all. She has been the belle of capital society, particularly in the exclusive army and navy set. At one time and another Miss Hiehorn's name has been linked with that of almost every eligible man in Washington, for no other Washington girl has had as many admirers as she. At one time it was said that Miss Hiehorn was about to become Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew. At others prominent diplomats were named as captivated by Miss Hiehorn's charms. She was at one time engaged to Brooke Baker, a young Washingtonian. But she has put aside all the temptations of wealth, place and power, and despite the opposition of her parents, now grudgingly withdrawn, she has listened to young Blaine and will become his second wife.

Miss Hiehorn is a brunette, with a faultless complexion, much fairer than the average. Her hair is dark brown and her eyes of that bewitching color which leaves the beholder in doubt as to its exact shade. Some call it blue, others brown, and it may be that both are right. She is a little above medium height, slender and graceful. Young

JAMES G. BLAINE, JR.

Blaine is likewise good to look upon, tall and heavily built. He is clean shaven. Add to his face the short white beard of his famous father, and the veritable counterpart of the Maine statesman would stand before you.

Readers of the newspapers scarcely need be told why young Miss Hiehorn's parents opposed with earnestness her attachment to young Blaine. His career in former years has not been such as to commend him to the hardworking, retired chief constructor of the navy or to his wife, who is of the best Puritan descent. Young Blaine has led a very strenuous life since his first appearance before the public. His elopement when very young with the daughter of an ex-congressman and his subsequent abandonment of her earned for him ostracization by Washington society and brought much grief to his famous father. But he was very young at the time.

Of all young Blaine's many escapades none brought him greater notoriety than his elopement and marriage with Marie Nevins, an actress. A few years later she sued for and got a divorce and later remarried. They had one child, James G. Blaine III. Several other lurid episodes in the life of Miss Hiehorn's fiancé have been seen in print, but it is said he has earned his right to her hand by a year's probation. He has thoroughly reformed, they say, and it may be true, for who can read the future?

Omega Oil

For sore FEET

Just about the worst pain of all comes from sore feet. Some people have to take off their shoes right in the middle of the day because their feet hurt them so. If these same people would first bathe their feet in warm water, and then rub them with Omega Oil, they could wear their shoes from morning till bedtime. Omega Oil is a liniment that contains a rare little Swiss green herb that goes in through the pores of the skin and stops pain. It takes out the soreness, removes the tenderness, reduces swellings, invigorates the tired muscles, and causes all the bad odors arising from perspiration to disappear. That's a good deal for one remedy to do, but Omega Oil does it just the same. It is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for.

Tell your druggist you want Omega Oil and nothing else. If he refuses to supply you, the Omega Chemical Co., 257 Broadway, New York, will mail you a bottle, prepaid, for 50c. in cash, money order or stamps.

The Salem Daily News has adopted THE INDEPENDENT's street cleaning ideas. "What is the matter with flushing some of our paved streets?" it asks. "There is no mode of cleaning half so effective or so economical if the water supply is all right."

The general round-up of Filipino leaders in the closing days of April left few commanders of importance in the field. The notorious chief Calles, who has distinguished himself by cutting off the heads of prisoners and burying peaceful natives alive, is still at large. So far no one has compared him to George Washington.

Canton is congratulating itself over the possession of thirty policemen. Massillon boasts only seven, but there is a wide difference between quantity and quality. Let Canton select seven of its biggest cops and match them with the Massillon squad. Then let the disinterested critic pick the winners. Size cannot always be expressed by numbers.

Railroad earnings of the month of April were four and a quarter millions more than for April of last year. Business was never on a sounder basis than at present. Clearings for the week ending May 11 were almost three and a half millions, an excess of 112 per cent over the total clearings for the corresponding week of last year. Crop prospects were never better. The role of the pessimist continues to be a hard one.

A dispatch from Piedmont, West Va., says that a resident of that place owns a wicked rooster which will drink beer, whisky or wine and seems to enjoy it. He becomes belligerent when under the influence of strong waters and will fight anything that wears feathers. The dispatch does not say that this includes the wearers of profusely decorated headgear, but it is probable that such is the case. It is easy to be seen that should this tendency to drink increase among barnyard fowls its results would be far reaching and disastrous. The dreadful consequences of the liquor habit become every day more manifest.

George Alfred Townsend's suggestion for the establishment of a national school of agriculture, similar to the military and naval academies at West Point and Annapolis, is not a bad one. In the meantime, the agricultural experiment stations in the various states are teaching scientific farming to any one with the necessary qualifications of enterprise and common sense. The various pamphlets, chart and other publications issued by the United States department of agriculture are nearly as good instructors as would be the cadets from the proposed national college, and any farmer can have them for the asking.

The prediction that Governor Nash will not be renominated because he promised to take vigorous steps to prevent the Cincinnati prize fight and because of his attitude in the Toledo centennial affair, is pathetic evidence of the fact that both Toledo and Cincinnati are unduly impressed with a sense of their own importance. It is probable that Judge Nash gained more friends than he lost by those two regrettable transactions. The people of Ohio generally are glad that their governor made a stand against prize fight promoters and that he acted according to the dictates of conscience in protecting the state treasury. Toledo and Cincinnati have a great many votes but they are not the whole thing.

A dispatch to THE INDEPENDENT says that hundreds of men are at work cleaning up the burned district in Jacksonville, merchants are erecting temporary structures, and plans are being prepared for dozens of large fireproof brick and stone structures. Jacksonville is facing its present difficulties with the spirit which has built up the American republic. Something of this spirit is expressed in the Jacksonville Times-Union which says: "Nothing at the Pan-American exposition will prove so sensational or creditable to American pluck and quiet endurance as a city destroyed and restored within six months; brought out of the ashes, set on its feet and prepared to receive its guests, and discharge all its responsibilities as the metropolis of a great state and a progressive people. Jacksonville will forfeit none of its claims to popular appreciation if sturdy work and unblenching determination can keep it."

The Ohio State Journal joins the ranks of Republican newspapers which unite in advocating the renomination of Governor Nash because "he has met the various duties of the hour in a manly and courageous manner," and repudiates the frantic efforts of the Democratic press to revive the agitation over the prize fight which the latter prevented from taking place in Cincinnati last February. "The Republicans of Ohio," it says, "will be able to attend to their own business in their own way without the assistance of the Democratic editors, whose sole idea is to create trouble and dissension. Just now they are carrying Ohio for the Democracy. They always do it about this time of year, but it does not count. The administration of Governor Nash has been carried on in a way that will be approved by the people."

The correspondent of a daily paper expresses the opinion that in the pamphlet entitled "The Iron and Steel Trade of the United States," which has been published by the bureau of statistics of the treasury department, "is given as thorough an exposition of the advantages conferred upon trusts in the iron and steel trade by the protective tariff as any tariff reformer could desire." Tariff reformers should take all the comfort they can find in the "exposition" referred to. In the facts presented by the pamphlet, however, the American people will see only that through the protective system a magnificent industry has been established in this country and that through it the United States has risen from a position where it was dependent on Europe for the steel and iron products which are so essential for the building of railroads and for the equipment of our manufacturing industries, to a position where it can control the world's market in steel and iron products. As for the forming of big combinations, they are the product of the times; the result of an industrial tendency which is universal and which must be considered on its own merits and dealt with accordingly.

COUNTY SEAT NEWS

Grand Jury Hands In Its Report.

EIGHTEEN INDICTMENTS.

County Jail is in Good Condition—

Canton Now Connected with the United States Telephone Company's Lines—Receiver Asked for a Massillon Manufacturing Concern.

CANTON, May 13.—Saturday afternoon the telephone line from Massillon to this city was completed, and the long anticipated connection with the lines of the United States Telephone Company is an assured fact. The Stark County Telephone Company is making great progress with its local construction. The cables in Canton are being laid rapidly and the poles for the Alliance line are set beyond Louisville. Active work is progressing in Alliance and it will not be long until what experts say will be one of the finest telephone systems in the United States will be installed in Canton and Stark county.

The report of the grand jury, submitted to Judge McCarty, says: "The grand jury of the court of common pleas of said county, of the May term, 1901, beg leave to report that they have been in session five days, and herewith return to the court the indictments presented by said jury. We have carefully examined in all such matters as have legitimately come to our notice, having examined over 128 witnesses, covering 20 cases, and presented 18 bills and ignored 11 cases considered by us. The business has been transacted in as expeditious a manner as possible. During our session we have visited the county jail and made a complete examination thereof, and find that the rules prescribed by the court for the care thereof and for the government of its inmates have been carried out and properly enforced."

The following indictments were made public: One against Seeman Tisch, one charging him with having interfered with the railroad property of the Canton-Massillon electric line. In the other indictment Tisch is charged with grand larceny. He is alleged to have stolen copper wire valued at $35.

Charles White is indicted for house-breaking and larceny. He is charged with having entered the house of Adam Bishop and stolen a gold watch, pair of gold spectacles and revolver, all of which are valued at $19.50.

David Lower is indicted for petit larceny. It is alleged that he stole a purse containing $10.82 from Howard Taylor. Frank Sauter is under indictment for burglary and larceny. He is charged with having stolen brass, copper and zinc from the warehouse of the Canton Iron and Metal company. The value of the property taken is estimated at $77.47.

Frederick R. Harper, alias George McKnight, is indicted for petit larceny. It is alleged that Harper stole a pair of corduroy pants valued at $2.25, the property of Frank C. Farwick and J. J. Auredenn, proprietor of the firm of Farwick & Auredenn.

Madison Johnson is indicted for petit larceny. He is also alleged to have stolen a $2.25 pair of trousers from Farwick & Auredenn.

Frank P. Burroughs is under an indictment for forgery and uttering a forged check on the City National Bank of Canton. The check is alleged to have been for $3. It bore the signature of C. G. Oliver, which was pronounced a forgery.

Anna Fries, administratrix of the estate of Valentine Fries, deceased, has filed a petition against William G. Paul. Her attorneys are Goulder, Holding & Masten. Plaintiff alleges that the late Valentine Fries was a partner of the defendant in a pottery near Massillon. Plaintiff claims a falling off in profits on account of alleged improper management, and she asks for a receiver and also prays for the payment of any balance which may be due her.

In the estate of Edith Floom, of Perry township, Bradley Floom has been appointed administrator.

COUNTY SEAT NEWS.

Northern Ohio Traction Company Asks for Franchise.

CANTON, May 14.—The Northern Ohio Traction Company, at last night's meeting of the city council, asked for a franchise in this city for an electric railway. The proposed line, which will run from Akron to Canton, will enter the city by the Fulton road, and the petitioners state that they have the consent of two-thirds of the property holders along the line. The company announces its readiness to begin work on the road immediately after the granting of the franchise.

The case of Clause vs. Shrock, which is a partnership settlement case involving the closing up of the business of the old Fulton Tool Company, was decided by Judge McCarty, Monday morning in favor of the defendant. The plaintiff gave notice of appeal and bond was fixed at $150.

At Saturday's meeting of the infirmity directors the following physicians were appointed to look after the poor in the various townships: Osnaburg township, Dr. A. Busby; Marlboro, L. B. Santee; Canton, S. B. Post; Lexington, P. C. Ramsey; Sugar Creek, O. C. Ricksecker; Washington, W. S. Taylor; Jackson, George F. Garner; Lawrence, D. K. Jones and J. G. Lawrence; Bethlehem, S. J. Shetler; Nimishillen, C. A. Walker; Tuscarawas, James F. Gardner and J. F. Campbell; Perry, J. O. Gardner; Paris, J. E. Wagner. From several of the townships there were no bids for the work, and no physicians were appointed.

The contract for the excavation at the Carnahan tin plate mill has been let and the work is now in progress. Three boilers have already been received, having been shipped thus early, owing to a misunderstanding.

NEEDS MUST LIVE.

Sons of Veterans a Necessary Institution.

OPINION OF COL. MYERS.

The Ex-Commander of the Ohio Division Says that the Order is a Teacher of Patriotism and that Its Influence is Essential to the Welfare of the Union.

Colonel F. W. Myers, of Parkersburg, W. Va., arrived Monday evening, and will remain in the city for a week or more, a guest at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. D. S. Gardner. Colonel Myers comes to attend a meeting of the Eastern stockholders of the McCabe Extension Mining and Milling Company, of Prescott, Ariz., which Dr. Gardner says will be held in Massillon on Friday or Saturday of this week. At this meeting a director will be elected to represent the Eastern stockholders on the company's board.

Colonel Myers, when he was a resident of Ohio, nineteen years ago, was the state commander of the Sons of Veterans, an office which was also held by Dr. Gardner in 1891. The colonel attributes the present disorganized condition of the Sons of Veterans of the state to purely a lack of interest on the part of those who should be zealous in their efforts to perpetuate and further the interests of the order.

"Ohio," said Col. Myers, "was at one time the banner state. The membership of the order of Sons of Veterans in the latter part of the eighties and the early nineties was greater in this state than in any other. There were no internal dissensions or other of the cause, so to which the decline of societies is usually attributable. The time is coming, however, when the organization will have a new birth in Ohio, and it will again forge to the front to take the proud place of yore. The welfare of the nation demands that the organization should be continued. Its existence is a lesson in patriotism."

Colonel Myers, in his capacity of collector of internal revenues, his gotten into the highways and the byways of West Virginia, and he has met all of the many sorts and conditions of people which it contains. "I have been in parts of the state," remarked he, "during political campaigns, in which I heard hurrahs for Jeff. Davis more frequently than for any of the party leaders of the hour. Down there parents are teaching their children that they were justified in warring on the union—that they were beaten, but that they were right. The sons and daughters of Confederate soldiers have their organizations, and seek to perpetuate the memory of the men who gave their lives in an effort to disrupt the union. It is needless to say that they are stronger in membership than the auxiliaries of the Grand Army of the Republic. The order of the Sons of Veterans must be rejuvenated, that the memory of the men who struggled that the union might live shall not die, and to spread the principles of a national patriotism in the South as well as in the North, or some time we will have the grim work of the sixties to do over again."

ARE READY TO QUIT.

No More Artificial Gas to be Made in Massillon.

The Massillon Light, Heat & Power Company is notifying its consumers that the manufacture of gas will be discontinued May 30. It is not known what disposition will be made of the plant. Superintendent McLain said he could not make a statement concerning the situation, and Secretary-Treasurer C. M. Russell would not. It is understood, however, that the business of the concern has fallen off to such an extent that the works are being operated at a loss. The loss last month alone was $300. The number of customers has declined from 500 to eighty-five. The lower rates of the East Ohio Gas Company have brought about these conditions.

THE TWO EXTREMES.

Family Moves from British Columbia to Nova Scotia.

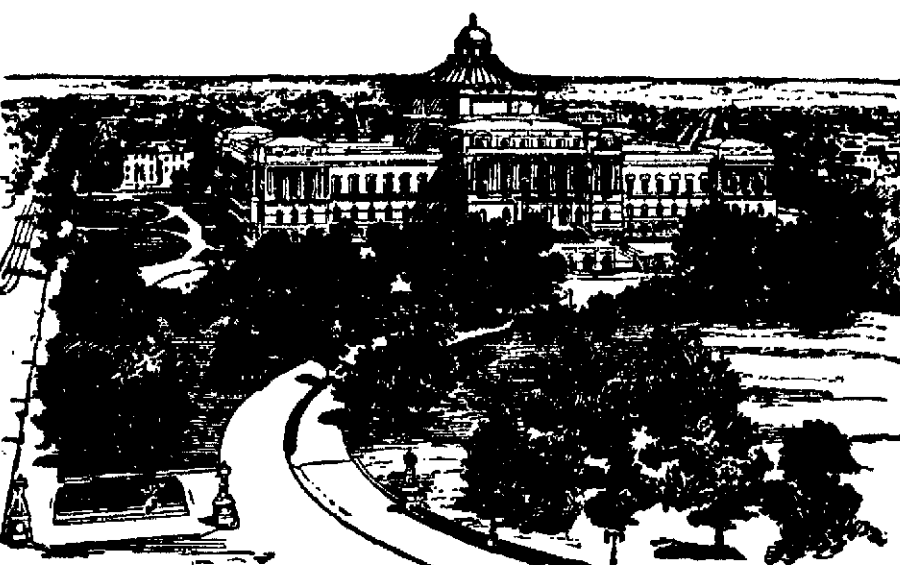

William Miller, who is now visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Robert Tipping, in West Main street, will leave this week for Nova Scotia, where he will work in the mines. He will be accompanied by his family, who are also in Massillon at present. Mr. Miller, during recent years, has lived in Nanaimo, British Columbia, where he was a superintendent of mines.

Massillon-Akron Electric Line.

The engineers of the Northern Ohio Traction Company, who are in the city, report that the lines for the proposed road between this city and Akron have been run. The line will enter the city by the way of Front street. As yet there has been no move made toward securing a franchise. The right of way agents are now at work securing the land, and all of it with the exception of places where the line goes through the cities will be private right of way. The road will be in operation within six months.

THE ARCHITECT

Of the World's Finest Library Building Recommends Peruna for Catarrh.

CONGRESSIONAL LIBRARY, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Hon. I. S. Smithmeyer, architect of the new Congressional Library of Washington, D. C., ranks first in his profession in this country. This library is considered the finest building in the United States. Mr. Smithmeyer spent sixteen years traveling in Europe working on the plans, and Congress appropriated six million dollars for this building.

In a letter written from Washington and dated July 4th, 1899, to The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O., Mr. Smithmeyer says the following in regard to Peruna, the world-renowned catarrh cure:

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 4, 1899. The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.: Gentlemen—I endorse the good opinion expressed by Senators and Representatives in Congress regarding the curative qualities of your compound. Those who have used it recommend it as an excellent tonic which is particularly effective as a cure for catarrh.

Respectfully,
I. S. Smithmeyer.
One of the most wonderful events in the history of medicine is the multitude of remarkable endorsements which Peruna is receiving as a catarrh cure from men and women of national importance. During the past two years a large number of people well known from ocean to ocean, have in glowing words of unstinted praise made Peruna the most famous and justly celebrated catarrh remedy in the world.

Men high in our national councils, statesmen known the world over, distinguished officers in the army and navy, physicians, lawyers, preachers, and last but not least, an innumerable company of people in the common walks of life, have all joined to place Peruna on the highest pedestal of honor that any remedy has ever reached in the history of medicine.

There can be no further question that Peruna is the catarrh remedy of the age. It has no rival. There are no substitutes. Peruna stands alone as a systemic catarrh cure which will cure catarrh in all phases and stages.

Everybody should have a copy of Dr. Hartman's latest book on catarrh. Sent free by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

A MIDNIGHT WRECK

Rear End Collision Near Glass Works.

THE ENGINEER INJURED.

A Fast Freight on the Pennsylvania Railroad was Given Clear Block, but Ran Into the Caboose of Another Train Standing on the Main Track—The Fireman and Brakemen Have Miraculous Escapes—Track Will be Cleared Tonight.

Extra No. 349, east, on the Pennsylvania railroad, crashed into the rear end of another freight train near Reed & Company's glass works at 11:20 Tuesday night, derailing the engine and fourteen cars, and completely demolishing the caboose. William Walker, the engineer on No. 349, was cut about the head and had his right hip injured. He was not seriously hurt, however, and the fireman left on the train at 2:12 Wednesday morning for his home in Allegheny. The train that was struck stopped with a caboose opposite the glass works and sent a flagman back. When it was ready to pull out the flagman was called in. Just as it started it was struck by train No. 349, which was running at a rate of about twenty-five miles per hour.

Extra No. 349 was a through freight. When it passed the tower at the M. & C. junction the operator at that point gave it a white block. This meant that the track was clear, and it accordingly went ahead. The engineer wanted to get a good start for the hill between this city and Canton on account of his heavy load. As the train approached the curve near the glass works another train on the west bound track came from the other side. This train on the inside of the curve made it impossible for the engineer on 349 to see the impending danger. The caboose of the west bound train just cleared the rear end of the other train when the engineer on 349, three car lengths off, saw the lights of the caboose. He called to the fireman to save himself, dropped off the engine and was rolled down the bank into the glass company's yard. The fireman had reached the tender when the engine struck. The tank slid off of the trucks onto the west bound tracks and the fireman was thrown down the north bank. He picked himself up and was surprised to find that he was not hurt.

The head brakeman, who was on the top of the car behind the engine, jumped to the ground, wrenching his ankle somewhat but not seriously. The engineer, William Walker, was helped up and taken to the residence of George B. Vickery, in South Erie street, and Drs. Gans and Culbertson were called. They found several bad cuts in the man's head where he had struck on the limestone ballast on the bank. His hip was injured but not seriously.

The caboose on the head train and engine No. 349 got much the worst of the wreck. The caboose was reduced to kindling wood and the engine was turned completely around and hurled down the embankment. Ahead of the caboose were a number of empty cars. Two of these were thrown over the bank and four others were derailed. Train 349 carried a load of canned meats. Eight of its cars were thrown off of the track. Three of them were not over the embankment; 200 feet of track was torn up and trains will not be able to get over it before Wednesday evening. The wreck crews from Alliance and Wooster were called and have been working at clearing up the wreck since 1 a. m.

Paris Exposition Prizes.

The United States received more prizes at the Paris exposition than any other nation, except France, the total being 1,981. It is also a remarkable fact, that though the inhabitants of every country suffer from digestive troubles, and though every clime offers some alleviative therefrom, it remains for America to produce an absolutely reliable remedy for such common diseases. This remedy is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Half a century ago it was placed upon the market, and from that day to this it has never been equalled. It has an almost unparalleled record for the cure of dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, sick headache, sour stomach, belching, heartburn, nervousness, fatigue, insomnia or any other disturbance of the stomach. Be sure to give it a trial.

"Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup. I quickly secured a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure, giving her three doses. The croup was mastered and our little darling speedily recovered." So writes A. L. Spafford, Chester, Mich. Chas. W. Cupples, 139 West Tremont street, and Rider & Snyder, 12 East Main street.

LODGES ENTERTAIN

Knights of Pythias Go to Canton.

LADIES' AUXILIARY SOCIAL

The Rathbone Sisters Celebrate Their First Anniversary—The Elks Will Hold a Social Session Tonight—Doings Among the Secret Societies

Forty of the Massillon lodge, Knights of Pythias, went to Canton on an invitation from the Canton lodge Tuesday evening to witness the initiation of fifteen candidates. The work of initiation was done by a team from one of the Cleveland lodges. About three hundred Knights from that city were in attendance. The team was one of the best in the state and the members of the local lodge say that the work was the finest that they have ever witnessed. The Massillon men returned to the city on a special car which left the county seat at 12 o'clock.

There will be a regular meeting of Massillon lodge No. 441, B. P. O. Elks, at their hall this evening, at which there will be initiation ceremonies. A good sized class will be given the work of the order, after which the new members will be entertained. A social session will be held in the club rooms.

The Rathbone Sisters celebrated their first anniversary Tuesday evening in the K. of P. hall. There was a very large attendance, among those present being thirty-six members of the Canton lodge. An interesting programme, consisting of music and recitations, was rendered, after which there were games of various kinds and a luncheon was served. The Canton visitors returned to their homes on the last interurban car.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers entertained the engineers and firemen, together with their families, at the hall in the Hunt block, Tuesday evening, with progressive pedro. The ladies' first prize went to Mrs. Robert E. Smith. The consolation prize was awarded to Miss Egan, and the men's prize was carried off by Walter List. The men's consolation prize fell to the lot of Robert Smith. Among those who attended were a number of engineers and firemen with their families from Canton.

WANTS TALLEST TO WED.

French Consul Leaves Fortune For Gifts "to Regenerate the Species."

Count St. Ouen de Pierrecourt, whose family dates back to William the Conqueror (nearly 900 years) and who died recently, has bequeathed to the city of Rouen, according to a Paris dispatch to the New York World, his fortune of $2,000,000 on the novel condition that the city shall annually give a marriage gift of $20,000 to a couple of giants in order to regenerate the human species. The candidates are to be medically examined, and the healthiest couple will be chosen.

Trolley Automobiles in Germany.

Consul General Guenther of Frankfurt, in a report to the state department at Washington, dated March 22, 1901, says that a Berlin engineer has constructed a trolley automobile line similar to that exhibited at the Paris exposition at Eberswalde, a small city near the German capital. In this system, contains the consul general, the automobile by a movable cable. This from an overhead wire by means of a trolley, which is connected with the automobile by a movable cable. This allows the vehicle to turn out at any place on the road. The consul general adds that the line has been favorably inspected by experts and that the system is expected to meet with general favor in Germany.

Great Boom in Anon's Works.

The success of the so far anonymous "Love Letters" is rapidly bearing fruit, says Literature. Mr. Lane announces a novel, "The Aristocrats," by "the most beautiful woman in London." This is a mystery it would be rash to try to solve. Another secret is guarded in the case of "Colloquies of Criticism," as to which Mr. Fisher Unwin announces that he is not allowed to know anything of his author "save that he is a famous man of letters." Where is this new method of stimulating the sales of anonymous books likely to end?

Beware of a Cough.

A cough is not a disease but a symptom. Consumption and bronchitis, which are the most dangerous and fatal diseases, have for their first indication a persistent cough, and it properly treated as soon as this cough appears are easily cured. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has proven wonderfully successful, and gained its wide reputation and extensive sales by its success in curing diseases which cause coughing. If it is not beneficial it will not cost you a cent. For sale by E. S. Craig, Z. T. Baltzly and Rider & Snyder.

THE 25c. FAMILY DOCTOR.

CEDAR SPRINGS, MICH.—Mrs. Isaac Dunham, a well-known lady of that place, writes: "I cannot praise Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills too much. They did for me what doctors and other medicines could not do. I was troubled with severe disorders of the kidneys and enlargement of the liver. My family doctor treated me the whole of last winter, but did not help me very much, so I gave him up and began using Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The result was simply wonderful. I am now strong and healthy again, thanks to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

SHENANDOAH, PA.—Sylvester Pappert of No. 117 South Main St., says: "For twenty years past I have been troubled with constipation and kidney trouble and during that time I have taken dozens of packages of different remedies but none of them did me any good. The secretions were irregular and unnatural. I got some of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and since using them the action of the kidneys is normal and regular and their general cathartic effect is good."

HANNA FOR PRESIDENT.

Perry S. Heath Believes He Would Win.

WARMLY PRAISES OHIO SENATOR.

Secretary of Republican National Committee Says It Would Be Easy to Elect Him—Predicted in the Last Campaign a Boom in Commercial Affairs.

The New York Herald's European edition publishes the following from its London correspondent:

"There is not a man in the Republican party who could get the next presidential nomination easier than Senator Mark Hanna, and not a man in the United States could be so easily elected."

This flat footed statement of Mr. Perry S. Heath, secretary of the Republican national committee, to a group of American friends at the Hotel Cecil in London the other day was greeted with anything but unanimous assent.

"I know it sounds a bit startling at first," continued Mr. Heath, "but when you come to think over it you will agree with what I say. Some days before congress adjourned I was talking in Washington on the same subject with a number of prominent politicians. One of them was a strong candidate for the nomination himself. They, too, looked surprised at the suggestion, but when they came to think it all over they agreed exactly with me."

"How about Mr. McKinley for a third term?" asked one of Mr. Perry Heath's auditors.

"It is most unlikely," promptly answered the Republican committee's secretary. "While Mr. McKinley has made a record himself such as even the greatest of his admirers and well wishers never dreamed of, I don't think that he himself would entertain for a moment the idea of controverting the popular sentiment in opposition to third term nominations. Of course circumstances might arise, through trade complications and the consequent widespread foreign interests of the United States, which would almost demand Mr. McKinley's retention of the presidency, in which event the people would voice their demand in no uncertain fashion. But that is another thing.

"Under normal circumstances I don't think Mr. McKinley would entertain a re-nomination. Therefore, I repeat, the strongest man for the nomination today is Senator Mark Hanna. He would be the easiest to elect. The people have an erroneous idea of Mr. Hanna and regard him simply as a campaign manager and a rich man who has inherited wealth anything but the statesman a president ought to be. I can only say that the people don't know him. After five years of the closest intimacy I think I should be in a position to say something about him better at least than those who only know him through the newspapers as a political manager.

"He has proved not only his ability, but his character for clean cut, straightforward dealing, which only those who know him intimately can realize. Time and again when questions have arisen in the councils of the party which old stagers at the game of politics have been unable to solve he has invariably been able to overcome the difficulty with some precise, clean cut suggestion which astonished everybody present.

"The boom in American commercial affairs is only a fulfillment of Mr. Hanna's predictions made in 1896 during the first McKinley-Bryan campaign. With him it was no mere partisan enthusiasm or utopian dream of what he would like to see, but, on the contrary, a well thought out conclusion of what would inevitably happen, based on a purely business calculation.

"While Mr. Hanna would be the last man in the world to detract in the slightest from the credit due to the president personally for his able administration of affairs, which, by the way, I may say commands the respect alike of Democrats and Republicans as no other president's administration has done, still I think Mr. Hanna's strong confidence and sensible counsel have been invaluable to the president. Don't misunderstand me as suggesting that he has in any way acted as adviser of the president politically or assumed even indirectly the prerogatives of the members of the cabinet in the administration of state affairs. Apart from those matters on which the chairman of the national committee is naturally consulted by the president, the relations between Mr. McKinley and Mr. Hanna have been purely those of warm personal friends. In such a capacity Mr. Hanna's strength of character and his unbending confidence in the commercial future of America have been invaluable to one confronted with the enormously increased problem of administration which confronted the president."

"Has the question of his nomination been suggested to Mr. Hanna?" Mr. Heath was asked.

"Only once, to my knowledge," he replied. "It arose out of the convention. I spoke of Washington. One of the men who were present then met Mr. Hanna shortly afterward and jocosely said, 'We're going to nominate you for president, senator, four years hence.' 'Don't talk nonsense,' Mr. Hanna answered. 'That is as much as he ever said on the subject.'"

Had Lost His Fourth.

One of Judge Howland's stories had to do with the old Maine farmer who had been married four times. Shortly after the death of his fourth wife a neighbor stopped him and said:

"Mornin', Cyrus. How's the wife this mornin'?"

"Waal, to tell ye the truth," replied Cyrus, "I'm kinder out of wives just now."—Detroit Free Press.

An Easy Matter.

"The reason some men don't get along happily," said Mr. Meekton, "is that they don't know how to manage a wife."

"You know this?" was the skeptical query.

"Certainly. It is the simplest thing in the world. All you have to do is to say 'yes' whenever she wants anything and always let her have her own way."—Washington Star.

His Recommendation.

Tom—Hello, Bill! I hear you have a position with my friends, Skinner & Co?

Bill—Oh, yes; I have a position as collector there.

Tom—That's first rate. Who recommended you?

Bill—Oh, nobody. I told them that I once collected an account from you, and they instantly gave me the place. —London Fun.

KEIR HARDIE FLAYS TRUSTS.

Leader of English Workingmen's Party Says the Nation Must Control.

Keir Hardie, M. P., leader of the English workingmen's party, has given the following signed statement to the New York World on the effect of J. Pierpont Morgan's trust enterprises. He says:

Considerable alarm has been caused by the action of J. Pierpont Morgan in stretching his paw across the Atlantic and clutching our steel and shipping trades in his grasp. The trust constitutes the modern menace to progress. It places the producer and the consumer alike at the mercy of the over rich. The trust is more rapacious than the robber barons were of old. It is the bandit of commerce, the vampire of trade, bowless and rapacious.

The trust is a veritable daughter of the horse leech and, like hell and the grave, can never be satisfied. The ends are to be secured is the crippling or destruction of trade unions. What is to be done? I reply that either the nation must own the trusts or the trusts will own the nation. Democracy, by which is meant the rule of the common people, is a sham and delusion so long as labor is economically enslaved. Socialism offers the only way of escape.

Monopoly is inevitable, and the question at issue all over the world is whether this monopoly in the means of life is to be privately owned and controlled and conducted solely and exclusively with the object of putting money in the pockets of the shareholders or is to be owned and controlled by the nation and conducted so as to produce the highest possible happiness and the greatest personal freedom. Socialists advocate the latter as the better way.

The Fata Morgana.

The fata morgana is a singular aerial phenomenon akin to the mirage. It is seen in many parts of the world, but most frequently and in greatest perfection at the strait of Messina, between Sicily and Italy. So many conditions must coincide, however, that even there it is of comparatively rare occurrence. To allow of its production, the sun must be at an angle of 45 degrees with the water, both sky and sea must be calm, and the tidal current sufficiently strong to cause the water in the center to rise higher than on the edges of the strait. When these conditions are fully met, the observer on the heights of Calabria, looking toward Messina, will behold a series of rapidly changing pictures, sometimes of most exquisite beauty.

Castles, colonnades, successions of beautiful arches, palaces, cities, with houses and streets and church domes, mountains, forests, grottoes, will appear and vanish, to be succeeded perhaps by fleets of ships, sometimes placidly sailing over the deep, sometimes inverted, while a halo like a rainbow surrounds every image. It is supposed that the images are due to the irregular refractive powers of the different layers of air above the sea, which magnify, repeat and distort the objects on the Sicilian shore beyond, but to the Italians these singular appearances are the castles of the Princess Morgana, and the view of them is supposed to bring good fortune to the beholder.

Rarefied Humor of the Rockies.

High up on the Laramie range there is a little station called Sherman—a mere watering place for trains on the Union Pacific railway. Near by it is a gigantic pyramid of stone 60 feet high and 60 feet square at the base, which was set up by the railway as a monument to Oakes Ames and Oliver Ames.

In the latter eighties there arrived at Sherman a shabby person of melancholy aspect, who put up a "shack"—western for shanty—not far from the monument. Ostensibly, he was prospecting, and he continued to prospect for three years without accomplishing any results, so far as could be observed. At the end of that period the management of the Union Pacific received from him a communication demanding the immediate removal of the monument from the premises, which he claimed as his under the homestead law.

The matter was regarded in a humorous light at first, but subsequent proceedings developed the fact that the squatter had what lawyers call a "case."

The stranger, it seems, had located on a section of land which did not belong to the Union Pacific—the same section on which the monument had, by an inadvertence, been placed. He knew very well what he was about, and the upshot of the affair was that the railway had to pay $5,000 for the squatter's tract in order to make its title good.

The monument, by the way, is distant only about 100 yards from the station, and it is a favorite trick of experienced persons to induce green travelers to attempt a run to the pyramid and back during the two minutes of the train's wait. In nine cases out of ten they fall on the way back, bleeding at the nose, the air being so rarefied at that elevation of 8,300 feet as to forbid such exercise.—Saturday Evening Post.

Can't Let Go the Tail.

General von Waldersee admits that the task of letting go the dragon's tail is fully as difficult as getting the original grip. He should take a lesson from General Chaffee, says the Omaha Bee. The latter was on hand to assist in capturing the animal and as quickly dropped it when the work was done.

KEIR HARDIE.

trust is dangerous to national life and destructive of freedom of the individual. Its operations can only be successful through intimidation of the workingman, corruption of the press and control of politics. These form the working stock in trade of the trust system. England has found that fact out to her cost through the war in the Transvaal, a war of financiers seeking to secure higher dividends through reducing the wages of white workers and enslaving the black workers.

READ THE TESTIMONY OF MASSILLON PEOPLE:

West Cherry Street.

Mr. Charles Myers, of 28 West Cherry street, employed in livery stables, says: Doan's Kidney Pills work while you sleep and work while you are awake. Unlike every other medicine I used for my kidneys they act directly on those organs but do not effect the bowels. Before I took a course of the treatment, I had frequently to sit down to rest on account of severe pain in the back. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Z. T. Baltzly's drug store ended this annoyance absolutely."

Wellman Street.

Mr. Leonard P. Slusser, township trustee, residing at 184 Wellman street, says: "I had frequent attacks of severe pain in my kidneys. A friend told me of the great value of Doan's Kidney Pills and I bought a box at Z. T. Baltzly's drug store, 12 South Erie street. In a very short time I was absolutely cured and have not had the slightest pain in my back since. This remarkable cure speaks more eloquently than words as to the wonderful value of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Wooster Street.

Mrs. Rose Rennie, of 123 Wooster street, says: "The corrective action of Doan's Kidney Pills upon the functions of the kidneys is so manifest and the results obtained follow so quickly after a course of the treatment that the user cannot but come to this conclusion: Doan's Kidney Pills act as represented. My advice to any one suffering with either excited or weakened kidneys is to procure the remedy at Baltzly's drug store, take it according to directions, and the results will inevitably follow."

North Mill Street.

Mrs. Jacob E. Strickler, at 88 North Mill street, says: "I was taken with intense pain in the back, so persistent that it did not yield to any treatment. My brother-in-law advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills as he knew what they would do from personal experience. They were bought at Z. T. Baltzly's drug store, 12 South Erie street, and the relief obtained was prompt. I continued the treatment until I had used several boxes when I was absolutely cured. I am thankful my attention was called to this marvelous remedy. 'Take Doan's Kidney Pills' has become a household phrase with us."

State Street.

Mr. C. S. Drake, of 143 State street, says: "My work at the rolling mill is of a heavy nature and affected my kidneys, so that much pain in and around those organs ensued. Learning of the great benefit others received from Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured them at Z. T. Baltzly's drug store, 12 S. Erie street, nearly opposite the opera house. I am more than grateful for the speedy relief which followed a course of the treatment. I most emphatically recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to everyone in need of a cure for kidney trouble."

A Cigar Manufacturer.

Mr. Gustav J. Sailer, owner of the Hotel Sailer, and an extensive cigar manufacturer, says: "I give all the weight my name possesses to the endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy possesses wonderful curative powers. I do not know how many boxes I have bought at Z. T. Baltzly's drug store, but I do know that the results obtained from their use stamp the remedy as an honest one. No one need have any hesitation in using Doan's Kidney Pills when their kidneys are out of order."
